

Give Mom the gift of a backache-free moving experience!

Flowers, jewelry, candies, and cards are nice. Brunch is fun. But at the end of the day, your mother is a person who will enjoy a thoughtful, unique gift. And if she's moving soon, getting her the same old usual gifts can quickly add to the clutter she's trying to clean out of her home. So, why not give mom a more meaningful present this year? Whether she's planning to move in a few weeks or months, the gift of professional moving services will be a lifesaver she'll remember for years to come!

Seem like an abrupt departure from the usual Mother's Day gifts, right? Well, the truth is that it might be just the thing mom is looking for, whether or not she's been vocal about it. After all, more people are moving these days than in the past few decades. Much of this has to do with the "hot" housing market across the country, which makes it very easy to sell a well-kept home for much more than the asking price in just a matter of days! Many older adults are seizing the opportunity to relocate to smaller, easier homes to manage or make the move into nice retirement communities around more people their own age. And, yes, many also move into the homes of their children or grandchildren to be closer to family.

Of course, moving anywhere still means a lot of work. This is especially the case for older adults who may be looking to downsize and clean out decades of clutter. Then there's the final act of transporting all of their belongings, which of course means a lot of physical labor that they may no longer be able to handle on their own. Professional moving services can not only help them, but it can also save you and other family members from days of strenuous, often injury-causing physical work. In fact, when many people purchase moving services for their parents, they use the freed-up time to help their parents with smaller, more emotionally meaningful tasks (like going through heirlooms or even driving around, getting to know the new neighborhood).

Offering mom moving services for Mother's Day is pretty straightforward too — give us a call or send us a message ahead of time and explain what your mom is in need of so we can get something set up. Or if you aren't sure, simply talk to mom before arranging any moving services on her behalf and explain your gift. Of course, if you're like many people, you'll still want to make your gift personalized, not to mention something mom can actually unwrap. In this case, we recommend printing out a flyer from our website (or talk to us about gift card options) and wrap it up in a nice box or card with a personalized note.

This Mother's Day, it's time to show mom just how much you care. Don't let her deal with all the stress and physical strain of moving all by herself! Our professional moving services make helping her get relocated and all settled into her new home a breeze. Who just won Mother's Day this year? You did!
